

Dear Sirs,

It's obvious that Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is politically motivated, especially since Sinclair previously prohibited their stations from running a news show (Nightline, I believe) which listed the names of all the soldiers who died in Iraq. This is not a pro-soldier corporation, it's a pro-Bush corporation.

It is up to the FCC to intervene in this blatant effort by a corporation to swing an election. There are two way to handle this: a) stop them from pre-empting regular programming to air this very long campaign commercial or b) give equal time to the Kerry Campaign on the same stations, allowing them to air their own campaign commercial, of their choice.

Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. Their actions show egregious disregard to that cause.

Thank you.
